

CLEMMEMORIES

Jennie,

I've enjoyed knowing ^{you} very much this year.
You have been a real friend and I hope I'll see lots this summer. I wish you could stay a while with me this summer. Be sweet and remember me always.

Love to a sweet girl,

Guth Beck

CLASS HISTORY

The purpose of this history is to relate every step in the progress of our class, from the time we were first graders, twelve years ago, to our arrival to the dizzy height we now occupy. As no significant things happened, that we remember, in our first six years of school, we will give only the names of the teachers who taught us from our second through our sixth year in school.

In the first grade our teachers were Mrs. Bynum Davis and Mrs. Nona Watkins. Members of our first grade class were; Ethel Ayers, J. C. Ayers, Hazel Baity, Mary Beckner, Ray Beechum, Earnest Bullard, Chester Byerly, Ralph Craver, Elizabeth Crotts, Frank Drane, Richard Drane, Estelle Foster, David Fry, Charles Hackett, Betty Harper, Ruby Hauser, Billy Hefner, J. W. Holder, Marion James, Bobbie Johnson, Tommy Blackburn, Willis Lee Bodsford, J. C. Boger, Norris Boyer, Clyde Brandon, Maurine Bullins, Alma Sue Case, Paul Church, Elbert Grey Cook, Opal Durden, Joe Brock Ellis, Leonard Ellis, Peggy Essex, Ruby Everidge, Billy Furches, W. H. Gabard, Jean Hauser, Thomas Harper, Welbern Harper, Exie Hire, Jack Holder, Thornton Long, Bobbie Lee Potts, Charles Renegar, Richard Shore, Nancy Shutt, Mary Smith, Betty Sparks, Dean Spbaugh, Henry White and Mary Wise.

In the second grade our teachers were Mrs. Grey Walls and Miss Julia Idol. In the third grade, Miss Sarah Cooper and Mrs. Lydy. In the fourth grade, Mrs. G. T. Moody and Mrs. Farthing. In the fifth grade, Miss Annie Maud Hire and Mrs. G. T. Moody.

In the seventh grade our teachers were Mrs. L. O. Crotts and Mr. David F. Stillwell. We were all excited at the beginning of the year, because we were allowed to go to chapel with the high school. It was this year that we got our first taste of basketball. Mr. Stillwell coached both the boys and girls. Those who joined us from Hanes Elementary School were: Herbert Blackburn, Woodrow Blackburn, Betty Bryant, Elizabeth Bryant, Audrey Carlton, James Chappell, Dorothy Cundiff, Dallas Doby, George Feezor, Erline Jones, Charlene Miller, Ila Mae Petty, Betty Sattenfield, Doris Lee Sheets, Mable Sloan, Sadie Whisenhunt, Charlie Willard, and Rachel Poplin. Blanche Norman, Rachel Poplin, Henry Shutt, Juanita Whitehead, Bobby Hendrix, Mary Bowman, Sarah Cornwell, Paul Carter and Gertrude Groce left us during this year.

In the eighth grade our teachers were Miss Eleanor Lee and Miss Edoth Noble. Miss Noble taught us health, North Carolina history and English. Miss Lee taught us science and mathematics.

In the fall of 1944 we began our high school days under the direction of Mr. A. C. Lovelace. He taught us civics and algebra. Our class officers were:

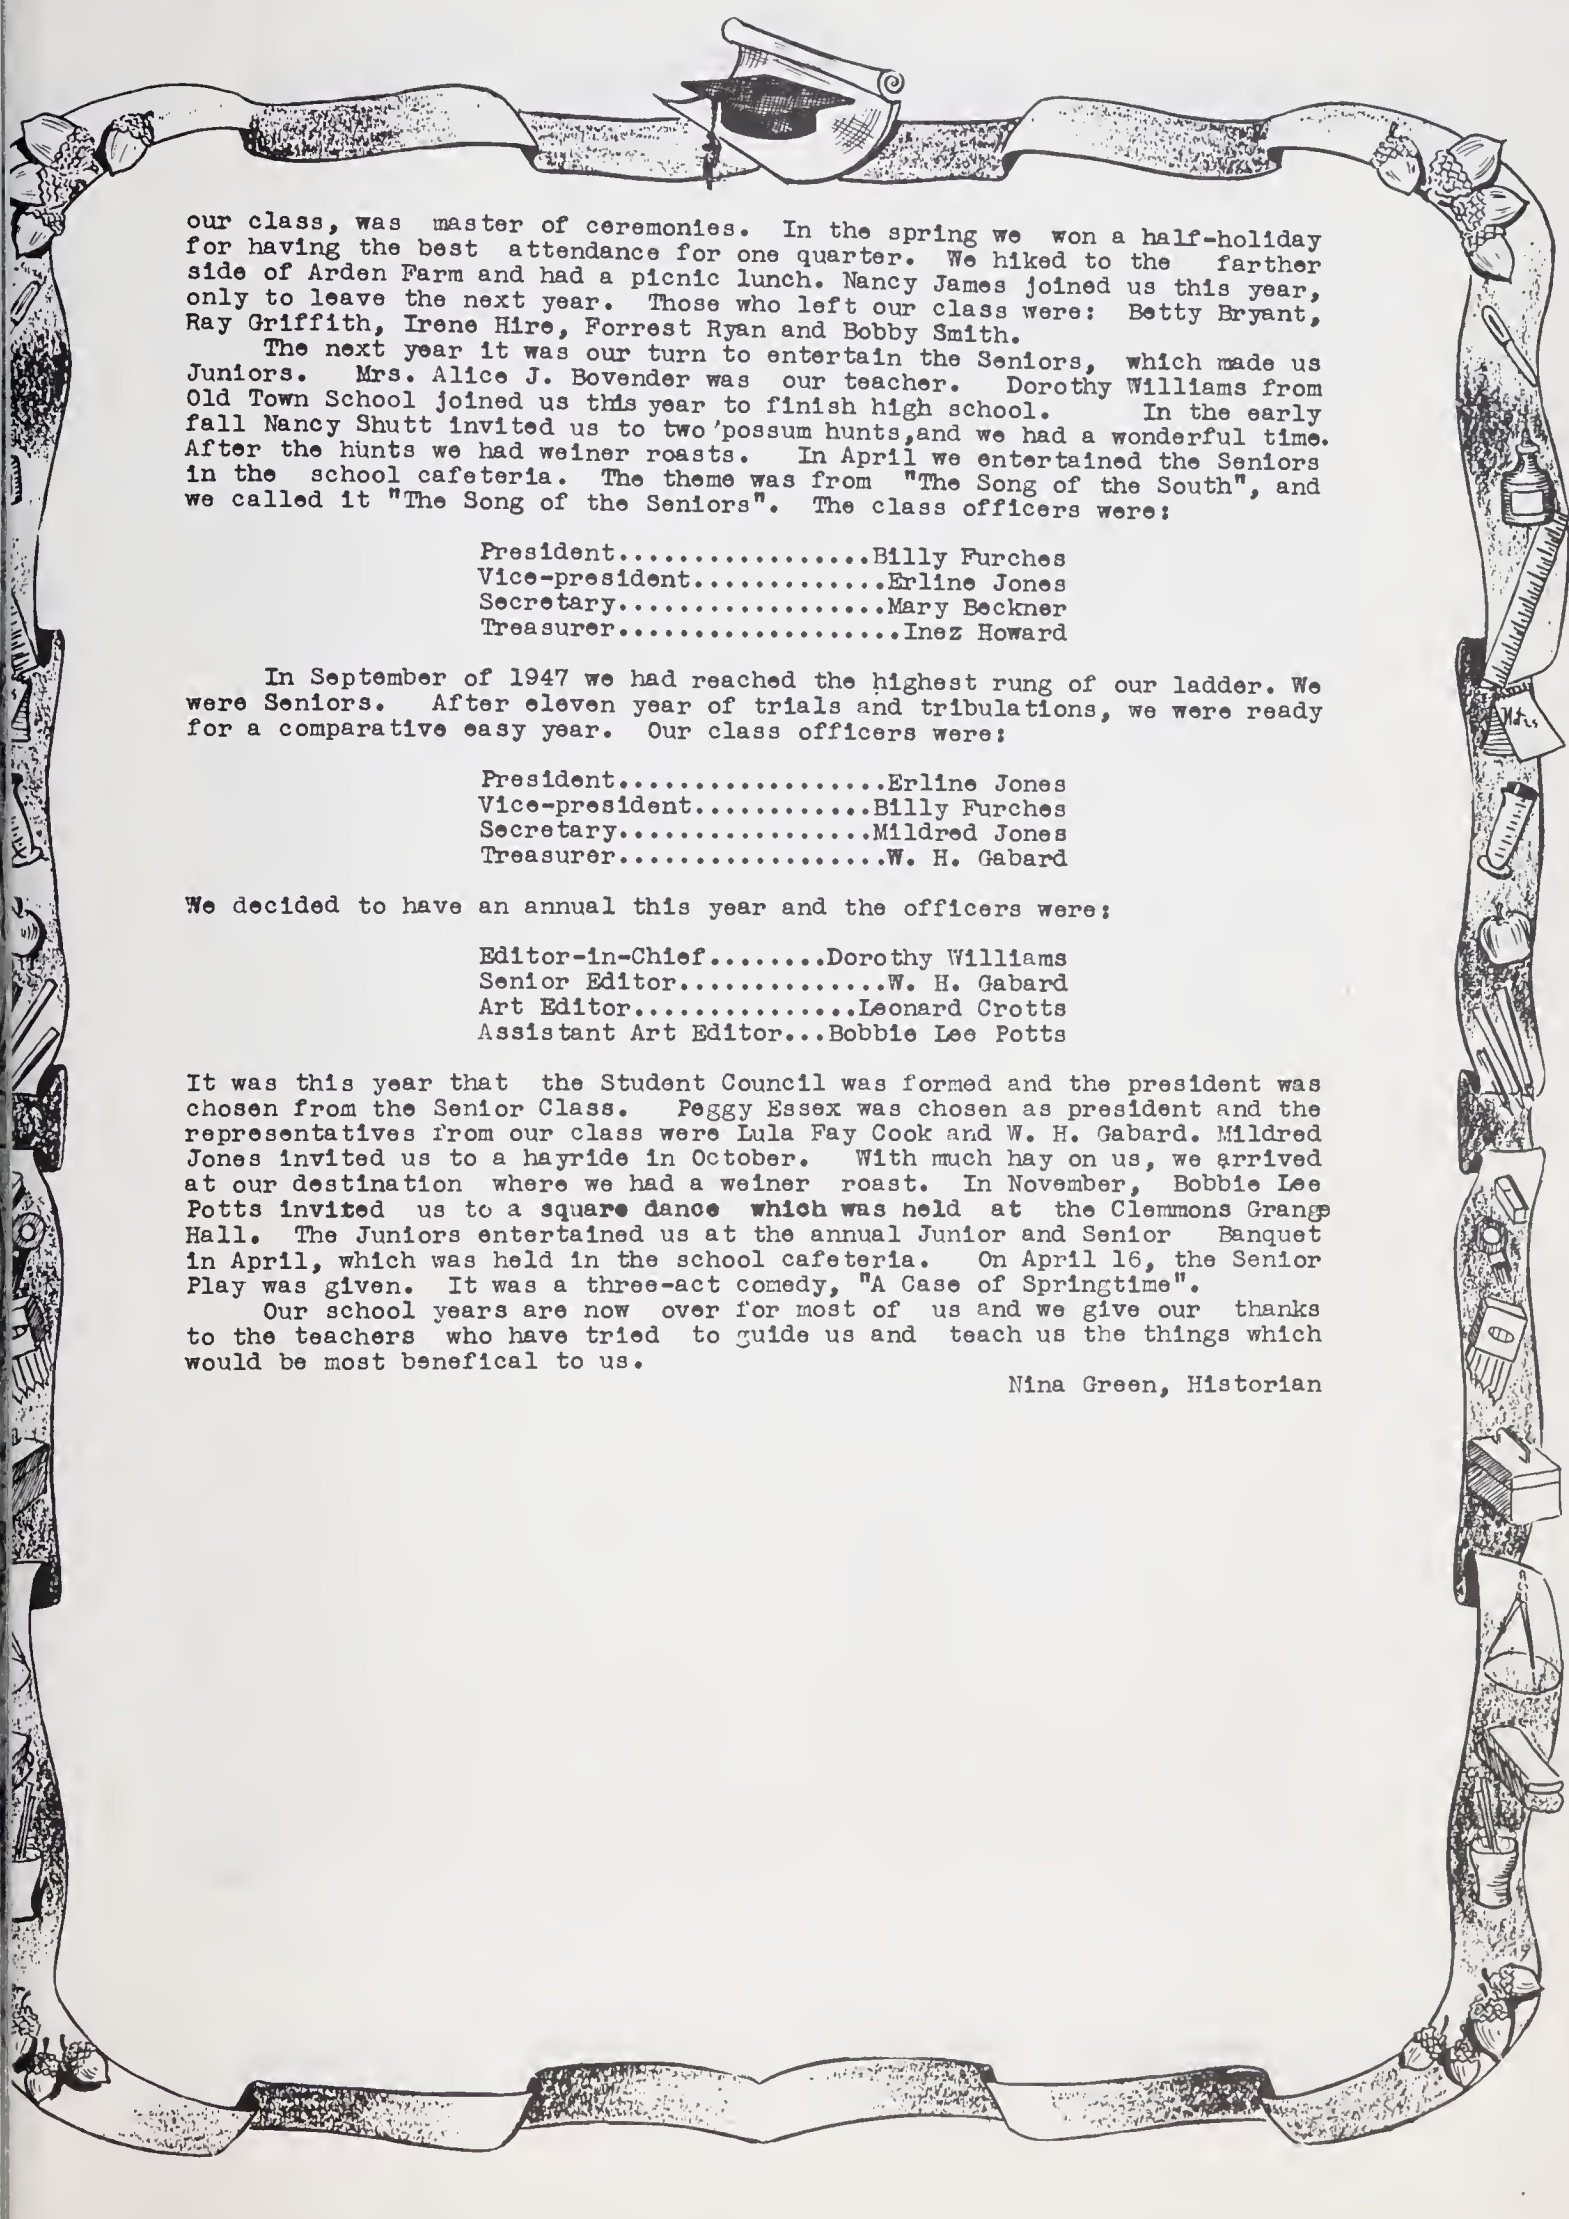

President.....Billy Furches
Vice-president.....Erline Jones
Secretary-Treasurer.....Mary Beckner

Betty Lou Morefield, from South Fork, joined us this year to complete her education. The members of the Freshmen Class were: Mary Beckner, Tommy Blackburn, Milton Blackburn, Norris Boyer, Betty Bryant, Maurine Bullins, Alma Sue Case, Lula Fay Cook, Elbert Grey Cook, Leonard Crotts, Dorothy Cundiff, Leonard Ellis, Peggy Essex, Billy Furches, W. H. Gabard, Nina Green, Ray Griffith, Irene Hire, Inez Howard, Erline Jones, Mildred Jones, Quma Lane, Thornton Long, Betty Morefield, Ila Mae Petty, Betty Jean Poindexter, Bobbie Lee Potts, Ruby Rights, Forrest Ryan, Maxine Scott, Nancy Shutt, Bobbie Smith, Sanford Stimpson, Roy Tesh, Mary Wise and Henry White. Quma Lane left us during this year. The only party we had was held in the cafeteria.

When we came back to start our Sophomore year we found we had a new principal. Mr. Theodore Rondthaler had taken a position at Black Mountain College and Mr. T. Ray Gibbs had taken his place. Mrs. Helen K. Sliker was our home room teacher and the class officers were:

President.....Tommy Blackburn
Vice-president.....W. H. Gabard
Secretary.....Inez Howard

In the late fall the school had a carnival and Leonard Crotts, a member of our class, was master of ceremonies. In the spring we won a half-holiday for having the best attendance for one quarter. We hiked to the farther side of Arden Farm and had a picnic lunch. Nancy James joined us this year, only to leave the next year. Those who left our class were: Betty Bryant, Ray Griffith, Irene Hire, Forrest Ryan and Bobby Smith.

The next year it was our turn to entertain the Seniors, which made us Juniors. Mrs. Alice J. Bovender was our teacher. Dorothy Williams from Old Town School joined us this year to finish high school. In the early fall Nancy Shutt invited us to two 'possum hunts, and we had a wonderful time. After the hunts we had weiner roasts. In April we entertained the Seniors in the school cafeteria. The theme was from "The Song of the South", and we called it "The Song of the Seniors". The class officers were:

President.....Billy Furches
Vice-president.....Erline Jones
Secretary.....Mary Beckner
Treasurer.....Inez Howard

In September of 1947 we had reached the highest rung of our ladder. We were Seniors. After eleven year of trials and tribulations, we were ready for a comparative easy year. Our class officers were:

President.....Erline Jones
Vice-president.....Billy Furches
Secretary.....Mildred Jones
Treasurer.....W. H. Gabard

We decided to have an annual this year and the officers were:

Editor-in-Chief.....Dorothy Williams
Senior Editor.....W. H. Gabard
Art Editor.....Leonard Crotts
Assistant Art Editor...Bobbie Lee Potts

It was this year that the Student Council was formed and the president was chosen from the Senior Class. Peggy Essex was chosen as president and the representatives from our class were Lula Fay Cook and W. H. Gabard. Mildred Jones invited us to a hayride in October. With much hay on us, we arrived at our destination where we had a weiner roast. In November, Bobbie Lee Potts invited us to a square dance which was held at the Clemmons Grange Hall. The Juniors entertained us at the annual Junior and Senior Banquet in April, which was held in the school cafeteria. On April 16, the Senior Play was given. It was a three-act comedy, "A Case of Springtime".

Our school years are now over for most of us and we give our thanks to the teachers who have tried to guide us and teach us the things which would be most beneficial to us.

CLASS PROPHECY

Walking down the shady lanes of reminiscence, I saw a dejected cupid, sitting on a broken heart, wasting tears of bitter sweetness over the Senior Class of 1948. He sadly invited me to sit down on the mossy knoll beside his weary little body and listen to his seemingly sad plight.

"I've tried to stab the hearts of your former classmates, but they are all interested in success in business, not love. Alma Sue Case, for instance--she would make a good wife, but no, she won't marry because missionary work in the mountains is more interesting than making a nice home for some man. And Erline Jones--a fine friend she is, too, walking blindly over me to reach sick people. She has become a wonderful nurse at the Baptist Hospital in just a few years. Now look at these two girls, Dorothy Cundiff and Ruby Rights. Both are nice quiet girls, fine enough for any man, and what do they do? Join the office staff at Western Electric, leaving me short two wives! Girls! Poo!"

"Aw, Cupid, don't be so bitter against us girls. Have you succeeded in piercing any of the boys' stupid hearts? Huh?"

"No-o-o, not exactly; but, you see, they are more willing to help me. Look at Tommy Blackburn, dressed in the blue uniform of a Greyhound Bus driver. He easily meets pretty girls and he likes it too. And Milton, his brother, occasionally peeps from behind some massive piece of furniture and lets a long searching glance rest on beautiful faces while a long low whistle escapes his lips. His furniture factory in Clemmons produces nice furniture which attracts plenty of pretty girls.

"There's an energetic fellow. He doesn't belong to the pencil-pushing set because of his ability to skip all work, regardless of what it may be. He is owner of Clemmons' one and only broom factory. Having spent a portion of his boyhood pushing brooms down the well-worn halls of Clemmons High School, "Swartz" understands everything about brooms and their pushers.

"Here's our energy dynamo, Billy Furches, I can't understand why he is now behind a plow and not behind a desk. After four years of juggling numbers in college he can do better than to return and toss the soil of his native Clemmons. But why, oh, why, had he rather sit beside a black cow than a pretty girl. Some boys are unpredictable.

"Take Thurmond Carter, a nice looking chap; but all the girls ever see of him is his big and healthy feet dangling from the interior of a contraption that used to be a car. Why doesn't he sell his garage and go to Hollywood or New York, like Roy Tesh and Peggy Essex?"

"You remember Peggy and Roy, don't you? Well, they got interested in roller skating (don't ask me why, either) and teamed up. They now own an exclusive night club in New York where they perform for famous celebrities. One of the miracles which they perform (to the amazement of all) is the way Peggy so easily swings two hundred and fifty-five pound Roy over her head. For relaxation, Roy works in a mattress factory testing the mattresses to see if they are strong enough for the public. Peggy has a small garden on the roof. People stare when she starts plowing with the mule, but her only real trouble is gathering the cucumbers which insist upon growing down the side of the building."

"Say Cupid, did any more of my former classmates form companies or such? Seems like I heard about another one or two."

"Oh, yes. Mildred Jones and Maxine Scott formed a company which builds tombstones for all sorts of people which have special epitaphs for the good and bad. Mildred is boss of the verse department and also in charge of the shapes and sizes of the stones which hold down the heads of people. Maxine works all night wandering about in their private graveyard. She watches the ghosts play, you know, to see if the grave markers are substantial enough to stand up under the strain of ghosts dancing hither and thither, on and over the cold stones for maybe years of cold, damp and wind weary nights.

"Another couple is Betty Jean Simpson and Henry White. The well-known psycho-analyst is Betty. Henry just raises butterflies, bugs, snakes, lizards and worms which Betty turns loose in the patients' room to bring out their fears in the form of uncanny screams. She realizes that this pent-up energy might otherwise generate the power to do harm to the public. Henry really enjoys his "Horror Farm" very much, because the girls leave him alone. Slimy snakes are always slithering from innocent looking places.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the Senior Class of 1948 of Clemmons High School being of sound mind, although subject to periods of amnesia and considering the uncertainty of the pulsations of the heart, make, ordain, publish, and do declare this to be our last will and testament, rendering void any former will or wills made by us.

Because we know our dear friends will dispose of our delicate framework, we leave no specific directions concerning our funeral.

Therefore on this day of April 2, 1948, having appeared before the proper authorities, we of the upper class of intellect and knowledge hereby bequeath all our idiosyncrasies and all our attributes of character to those who will soon be stepping into our vacated places of honor, trust, and superiority, the Juniors.

Due to the kind regard we have of our fellow classmates and out of the generosity of our hearts we make the following bequeaths:

Article I

Section I

We freely and without any heartaches or headaches our front seats in the auditorium to the Juniors, hoping they will as be uncomfortable as we were.

Article II

Section I

To our friends the Sophomores we leave our patience that they might endure the oncoming Seniors.

CLASS POEM

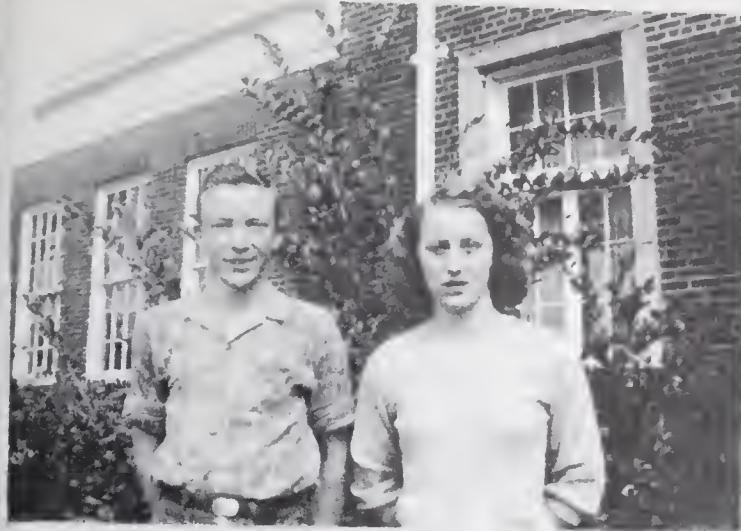

The present world goes rushing by;
But yet our school remains here still.
Though days and hours onward fly,
It still stands firm and always will.

Besides these grounds the pine trees grow,
Which cast their shadows all around.
The murmuring breezes whisper low
To children playing on the ground.

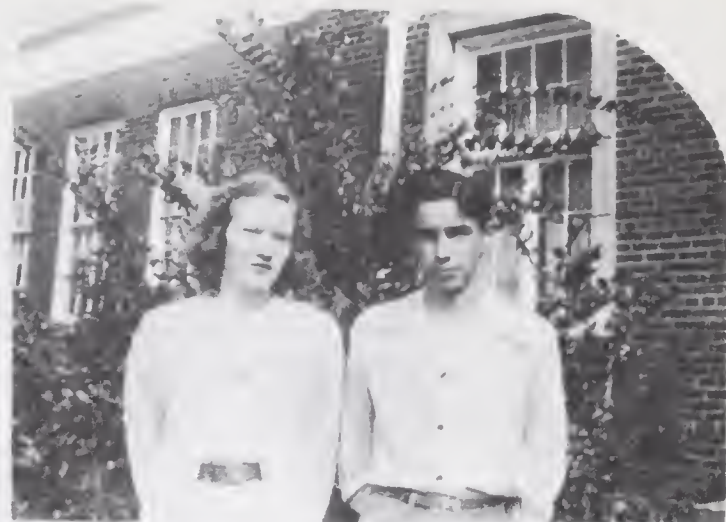

This is the place we learned our step;
This place is where we learned the rule.
Now many are the memories kept,
Of joys and sorrows in our school.

This gives life's first foundation stone;
We Seniors hope we did our part.
There's much we owe to thee alone;
We leave to thee our grateful hearts.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council, one of the youngest organizations in our school, is unlike most infants in that it doesn't attract much attention from its elders by the noise it makes, but like all normal youngsters, it is a healthy, wide-awake baby. Slowly it is gaining knowledge of the new conditions and situations which almost daily confront it, and it is steadily increasing in its ability to solve the problems that fall within the area of its participation.

Among the responsibilities that have been delegated to it, are the tasks of keeping the school grounds clean, the supervising of hall traffic, and aiding in the selection of movies to be shown in the school.

After it has suffered the usual growing pains of the young and had sufficient time and experience to develop, the Student Council hopes to emerge as a highly efficient organization, capable of assuming any responsibility delegated to it.
